PRESS RELEASE

New Hall 10: More Space for MedtecLIVE with T4M

The interest among exhibitors for the new MedtecLIVE with T4M from 3-5 May in Stuttgart is so high that the event has to move three months before the trade fair starts. Instead of Hall 9 at the Landesmesse Stuttgart as originally planned, the trade fair will be held in the new Hall 10. "In the newest hall in Stuttgart, we have around 40 per cent more space available for our customers. And the demand for stand space remains high," says Christopher Boss, Executive Director MedtecLIVE at NürnbergMesse.

For months, the rush of interested exhibitors has been great: "Every day, new exhibitors join, or companies want to increase their already booked booths. We can now serve this demand in the new Paul Horn Hall," says Boss. This momentum also shows that many companies along the entire value chain of medical technology are longing to speak to customers and interested parties in person again. "We currently expect to be able to fill the additional space quickly," says Boss.

Many companies are participating in large joint stands of important European clusters and associations. In addition to the VDMA and VDWF trade associations, the cluster initiatives Swiss Medtech, Medical Mountains from Tuttlingen and Bayern Innovativ will be at the start with large joint presentations. The cluster initiatives from the Netherlands, France and Saitama City in Japan, which traditionally have a strong presence at MedtecLIVE, will also be back in Stuttgart in May.
